

SPURart Ski and Snowboard Building Workshops

Build your own ride in Tirol, Austria

SPURart is a small ski company in the heart of Innsbruck, where any keen sports person can build their own skis, Snowboards or Splitboards. In preparation SPURart customer service helps clients decide which shape is best suitable to their needs. There is a wide range to choose from: Freeride Ski, ultra-light Carbon Ski, Touring Ski or an Allround Shape. In keeping with the slogan "Design your line" customers can not only pick their unique shape, they can also design their own top sheet. The ski building professionals at SPURart provide comprehensive advice and guidance throughout the ski or snowboard building process. A dream come true for many.

"By listening to our clients' needs in preparation for the actual building process we are able to come up with the perfect fit for their technical abilities and desired look" explains Michael Freymann, one of the two shop owners. He has over 10 years of experience in testing skis and has tried hundreds of pairs. Following his passion he started building his own skis – the beginning of SPURart.

Snowboards are just as much in demand. German Pro Snowboarder Matze Reif has already built several boards himself: "Generally the choices are very limited, especially when it comes to Splitboards. Through SPURart I can get exactly the shape and rocker I need for my boards."

Design & Technology

Most designs can be transferred to the top sheet and there is also a basic range of design options and patterns available to choose from. There is a large selection of fine wood veneers at the workshop, like African Makassar Ebony, Caramel Bamboo and the very fine Palisander wood veneer. Graphic designs may be printed on cloth or wood and integrated into the top sheet. Laser engravings and wooden inlays are particularly popular at the moment.

Workshops

Workshops are usually held on weekends – Saturday and Sunday in a casual, fun environment. Anyone can participate and prior building experience or technical knowledge is required whatsoever. The workshops are limited to 10 participants. Workshops (including the material) cost 790€ for Skis/Snowboards, 890€ for a Splitboard. Gift Vouchers are available on request! We also offer corporate team-building workshops.
